

THE BRUCE TURNER AWARD

Beloved friend, colleague and urology nurse

1979-2016

Your chance to apply for a free fully funded place at conference 2018

Bruce Turner was a well known and loved BAUN member, a nurse consultant at the Homerton Hospital, London and BAUN Education lead for many years until his sad and untimely death in 2016.

Bruce's love for Urology was indisputable and his enthusiasm for education for nurses was an indomitable force. During his time on BAUN council, he was instrumental in designing and organising programs of informative and free study days which were accessible to all in Urology. He strove to enhance our knowledge and rejuvenate our love for this diverse speciality; not only through the education programme, but also through socialising with friends, colleagues and peers. He was also a mentor and inspiration for many, helping urological nurses to develop their practice and reach their professional goals.

Bruce was determined to continue his mission to educate and impassion Urological nurses and left instructions that a legacy should continue in his name. This legacy has been used to establish The Bruce Turner Award: an annual prize which will provide a fully funded place (UK travel, accommodation and conference fees) to the BAUN annual conference, along with a council mentor to help your development and an opportunity to attend BAUN council meeting and a team building day.

If you feel that you could benefit from this opportunity, please complete the online application form. Successful applicants will demonstrate a clear idea of what they wish to gain from the award and preference will be given to applications from junior urology nurses, but all applications will be considered.

If you are a nursing manager or work with junior staff, please encourage them to apply, as this is an outstanding opportunity for urology nurses to benefit from mentorship and exposure to national urological expertise and practice such as this article in the British Journal of Nursing.

The closing date is the Monday 3rd September 2018 for this year's conference in Bournemouth. You must be a BAUN member to apply.
